(See Cook on Corporations, Sections 291-8.) 33. What is a joint stock company? In what ways can it be compared with (a) a partnership, (b) an incorporated company? Answer. The Cyclopedia of Law and Procedure defines a joint stock company as follows: A joint stock company is an association of individuals for purposes of profit, possessing a common capital contributed by the members composing it, such capital being commonly divided into the shares, of which each member possesses one or more, and which are transferable by the owner. (For a history of joint stock companies, see 5 Albany Law Journal 19.) The distinction between a joint stock company and a partnership,...
