OF COLLEGE DRAMATICS Editors Note: Madame Petrova when interviewed by J. D. Holtzermann and Angus M. Smith, at her recent visit in this city, stressed many important points in regard to the drama and University dramatics, in relation to the thoughts and life of the community. the broad sense, affects the thought and life of the community. Every one in college would be greatly benefited by participation in dramatics. Perhaps the most conspicuous merits of such activity are the development of the proper attributes of speech, and the pleasing qualities of voice. What is, no doubt, of greater importance, is the acquirement of ability to manifest poise upon all occasions. In this respect, the benefits of dramatic training are evidenced in daily life. In this aspect alone, University dramatics will have fulfilled a purpose. Madame Petrova is very decidedly of the opinion, that all members of the theatrical profession should do all in their power to cultivate an appreciative sense of the refined and beautiful in drama, as well as in other arts. Madame Petrova spoke of her first instruction under the late Sir Herbert Tree, who was one of the few who strove to attain a higher ideal in the art. Following these ideals, Madame Petrovas first appearances on the stage were marred by jeers and hoots. Her attainment of eminence and great appreciation has proved conclusively that the public has come to enjoy and appreciate the pleasing and artistic character of her work. Therefore,...
