Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1757 Excerpt: . . . LETTERS To Mr. . JfyJear, i. T is, I assure you, the greatest joy to me to hear the happy turn which, by the grace of God, you have been enabled to take; and I sincerely beg of God to increase and strengthen you more and more in the paths of righteousness and peace: but remember, that true and vital religion must be built on this foundation, viz. a sull conviction of our absolute incapacity to help ourselves, and the all-sufficiency of our Redeemer. I am delighted that you have bought Mr. Laws Spirit of Prayer; though there are in this book some speculative errors, yet I doubt not but you will receive great benefit from the many excellent things there are in it. I wish I could fee you often; but as that cannot be, if at your leisure hours hours you will write to me on religious subjects, on the state of your own mind, on any difficulties that occur to you, you will give me much pleasure. Dont be afraid, or think it necessary to study for elegance of stile, or connection, but write as if you were talking; and believe it is to a friend who dearly loves you, who wishes your eternal welfare, and who is Tour truly affectionate friend, December 16, 1753. My dear , JOIN with me in praising the free grace and mercy of God, which has so wonderfully displayed itself in your soul! I dont...
